Complimentary Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bailey gave an elegant dinner Sunday at 1 o'clock in honor of their daughter, Miss Bessie Bailey, and her bridesmaids. Miss Bailey's wedding to Mr. Elbert Joseph Summers takes place this evening. This was a happy occasion, the bride in her parental home, surrounded by those who are near and dear to her heart. The center piece was an exquisite cut glass bowl of white carnations. The place cards were white hyacinths for the ladies, pink hyacinths for the gentlemen. The dinner was elegant and exquisitely served in seven courses. Covers were laid for the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bailey; the honoree, Miss Bessie Bailey; her bridesmaids, Misses Bessie Robinson, Lois Broyles, Helen Gilliam, Mable Bowers, Edna May Dilley, Louise Stevens, Bessie Ferguson, Mae Russ and Sallie T. Summers of Nacogdoches; Messrs. M. R. Shelton, Will Robinson, Lloyd Bailey, A. T. Kneis, Hon. J. J. Strickland, Fred Broyles, Evans Swann, Robt. Gilliam and Ben Hearne. Miss Bailey wore an elegant toilette, one-piece dress of champagne shantung, and was as happy as could be, thus with her friends and loved ones. After dinner the afternoon was passed taking kodak pictures.

Wedding Bells.

The wedding of Miss Bessie Bailey

to Mr. Elbert Joseph Summers of Nacogdoches takes place this evening at 6:30 at the beautiful Bailey home. Rev. J. Kilgore, her pastor, will perform the ceremony. Mrs. E. W. Link will sing the wedding song; Mesdames Webb Wright and Ben Jackson will give the wedding music. The bridesmaids are Misses Bessie Ferguson, Lois Broyles, Edna May Dilley, Mable Bowers, Mae Russ, Bess Robinson, Louis Stevens and Sallie T. Summers, sister of the groom, of Nacogdoches; the maid of honor, Miss Helen Gilliam, cousin of the bride. The groomsmen are Messrs. Fred Broyles, Hon. J. J. Strickland, Ben Hearne, Evans Swann, Lloyd Bailey, brother of the bride; Robt. Gilliam, cousin of the bride; Fritz Swift of Nacogdoches, Cates Ford of Nacogdoches; best man, brother of the groom, J. H. Summers, of Nacogdoches. The bride will be given away by her father, Mr. F. C. Bailey.

Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A.

The following report from the Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. shows what a band of women can do. Everybody cannot see the beautiful silver and books purchased by them, but can see the lawn and grounds kept by the ladies. Nearly forty dollars have been spent on the lawn in the past fifteen months. We all know the cost of keeping up large yards or lawns. We may think this ought to look better for that amount of work. No private yard will be taken for mowing for less than one dollar, and we think that cheap enough. This lawn is kept neat and pretty, the year round. The ladies are doing a big work, and are interested in the boys of Palestine. The majority of active members of the Auxiliary have no boys, but have taken ours on their hearts and minds. They need encouragement, a hand-grasp, and more money—and we know they will get all this.

Statement since December 3, 1908: Receipts—Dec. 3, cash on hand, $186.65; receipts since then, $162.85; total receipts, $349.50. Disbursements—Amount brought forward, $168.30; disbursements since then, $148.22; total, $316.52. Expenditures—Sundries, $48.99; wire for fence, $6.54; cutting grass, replanting trees and flowers, $35.95; silver knives and forks, $28.50; books, $28.54; total, $316.52. Cash on hand, $32.88.

Woman's Club With Mrs. Dobbs.

The following is from the Marshall Messenger of Saturday. Our Mrs. Nat Dobbs was the gracious hostess; Mrs. Dobbs on Wednesday afternoon entertained the members of the Woman's Club. Quite a profusion of jonquils and perfumed violets, intermingled with lacy greenery, were employed in the decoration of the apartments for this occasion. After a lucid and interesting lesson on "Aphrodite in Structure and Painting," the two little daughters of the hostess served a menu consisting of chicken salad on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise, pimento sandwiches, crackers, salted almonds, iced tea, pineapple freeze, angel and caramel cake, from pretty plates, upon which jonquils were gracefully placed. Mrs. Dobbs has been a member of the club only a short time, but has proved not only a worthy member, but an ideal hostess.

Sewing Club.

Mrs. Robt. Abernathy entertained the Sewing Club yesterday afternoon. The names of the members appeared last week in this column. No brighter club exists than this, and while they are busy with work they are enjoying a happy time together. "Whistle and hoe, shortens the work by the song you know." After awhile work was laid aside and luncheon served.

Mr. Elbert J. Summers of Nacogdoches is in the city on the most important business of his life. He takes from us tonight one of our loveliest daughters for his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Summers, Miss Sallie T. Summers, Messrs. J. H. Summers, Fritz Swift and Cates Ford, all of Nacogdoches, are guests in the city for the Summers-Bailey wedding.

The many Houston friends of Mrs. Joseph Dibrell, the well known club woman of Texas, will be interested to know that Mrs. Dibrell will join Mrs. Pennybacker in Europe in June, after the biennial of the Grand Federation of Women's Clubs in Cincinnati in May—Sunday's Houston Post.

A jolly party of Texans attended the marine band concert at the navy yard Monday afternoon and later were entertained at tea on the "Mayflower," the president's yacht, which is stationed at the yard. In the party were Miss Mae Gregg, Miss Ivy Moore and her house guest, Miss Winston. —Washington news in Sunday's Houston Post.
